Military Calls On Home, Church, School to Train Youth in Conduct Code

New Training Program Ordered By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States set out today to arm its fighting men with the tough mental weapons demanded by its new code of conduct for prisoners of war.

An Armed Forces training program which eventually could reach into schools, the home and church was ordered for all men in uniform by President Eisenhower Wednesday.

The new code of conduct for prisoners of war, which is being taught to all men in uniform, is a part of the new code of conduct for men in combat and captivity.

But the men who drew the code made it clear the military alone cannot arm young Americans with the mental weapons they will need if they fall captive in future wars.

"Moral character and basic beliefs" must be instilled at home, in church, and in the classroom long before a young man enters military service, the Code of Conduct Committee said.

A Defense Department report said the new code was drawn up because "the Korean story must never be permitted to happen again."

The report referred to Red torture and brainwashing faced by prisoners and the wide differences in individual ability to endure it.

Be Ready To Die
The code decrees that members of the Armed Forces must be ready to die for their country, must never surrender of their own free will, must try to escape if captured, and must seek no special favors from the enemy.

They also must "give no information or take part in any action which might be harmful to my comrades."

These high requirements already existed in every armed service. But the code puts them in writing.

With the stern new code, based on a tell-the-enemy-nothing philosophy, Communist methods can be successfully combatted, according to Assistant Defense Secretary Carter L. Burgess who headed the committee which drafted it.

But "real success" will depend on enlightened training and education in American principles, he said.

Mr. Eisenhower promulgated the code at his vacation retreat at Fraser, Colo.

His order directed the military services to give their men training to "counter and withstand all enemy efforts."

The Burgess Committee proposed that the services cooperate with educational institutions, churches and other patriotic organizations to

1. I am an American fighting man. I serve the forces which guard my country and our way of life. I am prepared to give my life in their defense.

2. I will never surrender of my own free will. If in command I will never surrender my men while they still have the means to resist.

3. If I am captured I will continue to resist by all means available. I will make every effort to escape and aid others to escape. I will accept neither parole nor special favors from the enemy.

4. If I become a prisoner of war, I will keep faith with my fellow prisoners. I will give no information or take part in any action which might be harmful to my comrades. If I am senior, I will take command. If not, I will obey the lawful orders of those appointed over me and will back them up in every way.

5. When questioned, should I become a prisoner of war, I am bound to give only my name, rank, service number and date of birth. I will evade answering further questions to the utmost of my ability. I will make no oral or written statements disloyal to my country and its allies or harmful to their cause.

6. I will never forget that I am an American fighting man, responsible for my actions, and dedicated to the principles which made my country free. I will trust in my God and in the United States of America.

7. I will never forget that I am an American fighting man, responsible for my actions, and dedicated to the principles which made my country free. I will trust in my God and in the United States of America.

8. I will never forget that I am an American fighting man, responsible for my actions, and dedicated to the principles which made my country free. I will trust in my God and in the United States of America.

9. I will never forget that I am an American fighting man, responsible for my actions, and dedicated to the principles which made my country free. I will trust in my God and in the United States of America.

10. I will never forget that I am an American fighting man, responsible for my actions, and dedicated to the principles which made my country free. I will trust in my God and in the United States of America.

Eltis F. Henson New Principal At High School

Was Director of Field Services for Murray State College

George O. Davenport, president of the Harrisburg Township high school board of education, today announced that Eltis F. Henson of Murray, Ky., will be the new principal of the Harrisburg high school.

Mr. Henson formally accepted the post this morning in a long-distance telephone call from Murray. School board members had been negotiating with him for several days.

Mr. Henson, 41-year-old director of field services for Murray State college, had been the man the board of education was seeking since shortly after the vacancy in the post occurred here, but Mr. Henson first wanted to obtain a release from the president of the college and had to obtain living quarters in Harrisburg before he could accept the post.

He obtained the release and will move into the J. A. Bottomley property at 111 West O'Garra street and will take over as principal of the HTHS Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Henson have two boys.

The new principal has his bachelor of science and his master of arts degrees from Murray State college, and has done work toward his doctor's degree in school administration at Peabody college in Nashville, Tenn.

He has had 16 years of teaching experience, 13 of them as high school principal and superintendent. For the past five years he has been director of field services for Murray state college. Also for the past several years he has been a member of the executive board of the PTA in Kentucky.

In taking over the post as principal vacated by the resignation of Raymond L. Foster last week, Mr. Henson told school board members that he made his decision because he wanted to devote more time to his home and family. In his college position he spent much time away from home, visiting high schools in Kentucky.

At present he is secretary of the Carrier Mills Lions and chairman of the Junior Red Cross of Saline county. He holds membership in the national, state, and county educational associations and in the Schoolmasters club.

Hunter's wife is a member of the faculty of Harrisburg Township high school. They have a daughter, Nancy, age 7.

Mr. Hunter has B. S. and M. S. degrees in Education from Southern Illinois university. In addition he has studied at Shrivensham university, England, Louisiana State university, Baton Rouge, and Western Teachers college of Marquette, Ill. While in school, he was an active participant in athletics and music.

He served as coach and assistant principal at Carrier Mills high school following his service with the Eighth Air Force in Europe in World War II. At the time of his induction he was superintendent of the high school and elementary school in Cyprus.

Gov. Stratton, Sen. Dirksen Praise GOP Rule

Head Speaking Program at Illinois State Fair

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Gov. William G. Stratton and U. S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen today praised Republican administration achievements and Dirksen asked the voters for "a chance to consummate the rest of our covenant with the people" after 1956.

Stratton and Dirksen headed a speaking program of Illinois Republicans from the grandstand stage at the state fairgrounds on "Governor's Day."

The crowd for the Republican Day activities was between 4,000 and 5,000 people, a small crowd for the incumbent administration's day at the fair. But there was an excellent turnout of GOP figures from around the state.

Dirksen relied heavily on the Eisenhower administration's claims for "peace and prosperity."

"After all the years of strange doctrine and mismanagement we can proudly say today that under Republican direction the law is being enforced, the tax evaders brought to justice, the people's burdens have been reduced, artificial crises are a thing of the past, killing of young men has stopped, confidence has been restored, a shift from a war economy to a peacetime economy has been brought about without doom or gloom, and the enjoyment of living has been expanded," Dirksen said.

"Never has so much been quickly accomplished in so short a time," the Pekin senator added.

"Next year our authority will be challenged at the polls. It becomes a very grave question. Shall the authority to give direction of the affairs of this great state and the nation be returned to those who over a long period of time failed to achieve peace, prosperity, and a course of socialism, and permitted people of dubious loyalty to infiltrate into government?" Dirksen asked.

WEDNESDAY WAS CIRCUS DAY IN HARRISBURG—The combined King Brothers and Cole Brothers circus, brought to Harrisburg by the Egyptian Shrine club, was busy throughout the day, with a parade in the morning, and performances both afternoon and evening. Large crowds lined the Harrisburg square Wednesday about noon to witness the first circus parade in Harrisburg in many years. The parade was nearing the end when the above picture was snapped, showing the five elephants. Next came the callopie, traditionally the final part of a circus parade. Following the showing in Harrisburg the circus hit the road south, with Metropolis the next stop.

Giant Manhunt in Chicago for Gunman After Second Duel with Policemen

CHICAGO (UP)—Chicago policemen prowled the West Side today in a giant manhunt for a two-gun bandit who is believed to have killed one officer and wounded another in just three days.

The gunman had his second duel with a policeman Wednesday night in a crowded movie theater. He emerged the victor—as did the man who shot and killed Detective William Murphy on a subway station platform Monday night.

Police are convinced both shootings are the work of Richard Carpenter, an icy-calm 26-year-old who carries two guns and is wanted for a string of tavern robberies.

Both gun battles followed the same pattern. An officer tried to make an arrest and the fugitive whipped out a revolver without warning and blazed away with deadly accuracy.

Patrolman Clarence Kerr, 26, was wounded in the chest and given a 50-50 chance to live after Wednesday night's duel in a darkened movie theater. Kerr shot it out with a man who looked like Carpenter but the gunman escaped, leaving a trail of blood.

Kerr told police today he was "positive" the gunman was Carpenter and that he felt sure he had wounded him. The young policeman was in grave condition with a severed artery and a hospital call for blood was sent out.

A few minutes after the shooting, a man called police headquarters and said "tell them come to leave me alone. I am Carpenter. I just shot another policeman."

The call was repeated a short time later.

Carpenter was wanted for both shootings because his fingerprints were found on a car which Murphy's slayer commandeered to make his getaway. Murphy had been assigned to look for the soft-spoken Carpenter. A police picture of Carpenter was found in the subway station after Murphy was shot down.

Whips Out Pistol
Kerr, like every other Chicago policeman, was on the lookout for Carpenter when he took his 24-year-old wife Wednesday night to the Biltmore Theater on Division St.

The off-duty policeman found himself sitting in front of a man who had dozed off in one of the rear row of seats.

Kerr told his wife, Marion, "that fellow looks like Carpenter." He ordered her out of the theater, then drew his gun and shook the man awake.

"You're under arrest," Kerr said, and the man replied, "O. K. I give up."

Kerr was marching the man up the aisle when, with snakelike agility, he whipped out a gun and fired at close range.

Kerr, seriously wounded in the left chest, snapped off six shots as the gunman scurried for the theater's fire exit. Another man was believed to be with him. Kerr was sure one of his bullets hit the fugitive, and his belief was confirmed when a trail of blood was found leading to the fire door.

The Air Force said the second incident is being investigated.

The C47 was struck by one bullet which punctured a wing near the engine nacel, but it returned safely to its base.

The U. N. protest said there had been nine instances during the past ten months of the Communists firing on unarmed aircraft and said the "trigger happy" Red gunners "seem to derive a fiendish delight" in the action.

The Air Force said an unarmed C47 transport plane searching for the wreckage "was fired upon this morning approximately 50 miles northeast of Seoul."

The brief announcement did not say who shot at the cargo plane. But the location given is approximately 13 miles south of the demarcation line separating North and South Korea, indicated it was fired upon over U. N. controlled territory and presumably by "friendly" forces.

UN Accuses Trigger Happy Communists

Second Plane Fired On Presumably By 'Friendly' Guns

MUNSAN, Korea (UP)—The United Nations command today accused "trigger happy" Communists of wilfully shooting down an unarmed U. S. Air Force plane over the demilitarized zone that separates North and South Korea.

A second American plane, searching for the wreckage and possible survivors from the downed plane, was fired upon well inside U. N. territory, by presumably "friendly" guns.

The T6 training plane, unarmed and with two Americans aboard, was knocked down Wednesday by Communist guns near the Korean truce lines. The fate of the Americans, a captain and a lieutenant, was not known.

U. S. Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks charged in a letter delivered to the Communist side of the military armistice commission that the incident represented a "barbarous" Communist attack.

The plane was fired upon, the U. N. protest said, when it inadvertently strayed into the demilitarized zone. It never entered Communist air, the U. N. command said.

The plane was subjected to "continuous, murderous and devastating ground fire" until it finally crashed in Communist North Korean territory.

C47 Hit Once
No parachutes were seen to leave the training plane before the crash.

In Tokyo, the U. S. Far Eastern Air Force said a C47 transport plane, searching for wreckage and possible survivors "was fired upon this morning approximately 50 miles northeast of Seoul."

Capt. J. W. Ingraham, pilot of the C47, said he saw "tracers from small arms fire," the Air Force reported.

"The plane was hit in the left wing just rear of the engine nacelle but returned to its home base and landed safely," the Air Force said.

The light single training plane was shot down Wednesday. The U. N. command said its destruction was another of the "barbarous acts" by the Communists.

Korea—A Forceful Reminder

Editorial By Bruce Blossat
Korea, only two years ago just emerging from the dust of battle, has been pretty much on the list of forgotten places in 1955. When people have spoken of the "Asian problem," they have been thinking of Formosa and Indochina.

Now the South Koreans are forcefully and somewhat painfully reminding us of their existence. We are compelled to remember that Korea is still an unhappy land, torn between freedom and communism.

Since the 1953 truce, a neutral commission composed of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Switzerland has been supervising the armistice. The commission's duties include inspection in both North and South Korea to detect whether any illegal build-up of military force has been made.

It is now an old story that Communist North Korea never allowed commission members necessary access to vital areas prescribed by the truce terms. Despite this, the United Nations Command still established in South Korea ferreted out evidence of a tremendous Red build-up north of the demarcation line.

Knowing this, and fearing a new southward push some day by Communist armies, South Koreans from President Rhee on down have been inflamed. Hence they are today taking their wrath out on the neutral commission, which has been attempting to carry out similar inspections south of the truce line.

The fury and frustration of the South Koreans is understandable up to a point. They know the commission's Red members have balked at the agency's work, and probably are operating as spies.

But Rhee and other South Korean leaders should not have let their anger erupt into violence, particularly against the American soldiers who are inescapably charged with the duty of protecting the commission. Americans have been stoned in mob riots and other incidents.

Belatedly, Rhee did speak out against violence. But it is well known that he wants a renewal of the Korean war because he believes that is the only way his country ever will be unified.

Yet America and its Western friends now are committed to seeking a political, not a military, settlement of the Korean problem.

We know such a course means anguish for millions of Koreans, as does our determination to seek peaceful solutions produce similar unhappiness in other divided lands like Germany and Indochina.

The alternative Rhee proposes is unthinkable. We would ask him to remember what sort of destruction another war might bring. And we would ask him and his people to remember, too, what America did to save at least a sizable part of their country for freedom. Stones are a poor reward for the blood sacrifices of thousands of young Americans.

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Lobbyists Pressured White House In Capital Transit Strike; Transit Company Head Was Campaign Contributor To Both Parties; Brownell Forgot He Fired A Judge.

WASHINGTON.—Here is another illustration of how the fourth branch of government, the lobbyists, operates backstage in Washington.

Just before Congress adjourned, it rushed through a bill permitting the District of Columbia government to seize the Capital Transit Company, long on strike, and operate its buses and street cars for the benefit of the public.

This strike has had one of the most crippling effects on the nation's capital in years. Yet financier Louis Wolfson, the Florida shipyard operator who owns Capital Transit and has been trying to acquire Montgomery Ward, literally thumbed his nose at the people of Washington. Finally a bill was introduced to take over the company, and the commissioners of the district, who are Republican, demanded that Congress stay in session until the bill was passed.

Speaker Sam Rayburn, though anxious to adjourn, reluctantly did stay in session and did pass the transit-seizure bill.

But despite the demand of his own Republican commissioners, Ike mysteriously delayed signing it.

MYSTERIOUS PRESSURES
What was the reason for this strange delay? Why the demand on the part of Ike's Republican appointees for action, and then the mysterious delay by Ike himself.

The answer is: backstage pressure by the lobbyists.

And here is how the lobbyists worked.

First, Capital Transit boss Wolfson has been a heavy contributor to both Republicans and Democrats. He and his colleagues placed money on the election campaigns of certain senators just as a gambler places money on different numbers around a roulette wheel figuring that one or the other would pay off. This is a common practice by the officials of big corporations. Having contributed to a senator, they then feel no compunction about asking favors from that senator.

In the Florida campaign to elect Governor Fuller Warren, for instance, Wolfson was recorded as contributing the amazing amount of $200,000.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D., Ore.) ran up against Wolfson's campaign contributions when trying to subpoena him to testify regarding the Capital Transit strike. Wolfson at first appeared to be ducking the question. But when Morse threatened to subpoena him, Wolfson fled the country.

Wolfson's case was the second in recent weeks in which an armed forces commission was held up on questions of the activities of the mother of an officer candidate. Eugene Landy was denied a naval reserve commission upon graduation from the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy last month because of his mother's past membership in the Communist party. Landy's case is being reviewed by the Navy.

Eighth in Class
Gaston said his mother, Mrs. Jeanne Grisez of San Francisco, was "interested" in the groups in question, because they were working on minority, labor and world peace problems, but "she didn't know they were subversive."

She had quit all the organizations by late 1951, he said, because "she had no more use for them," and later she became interested in groups working with crippled children and war orphans.

"My mother is as loyal an American as is living," he said, and "I'm completely loyal."

Gaston left his engineering job with a San Francisco firm last November and enlisted in the Coast Guard's officer training program for a three-year hitch. He stood eighth in his 43-man class when it was graduated last April, and his 41 commissioned classmates have gone on to ship and shore stations.

Women Cops
MILTON, Mass. — At a special town meeting, voters authorized a school traffic control unit composed of five police-women. Voters agreed to appropriate $2,463 for their salaries.

Senate District of Columbia committee.

MC NAMARA EXPLODES

And when Morse pressed the search, Senator Symington (D., Mo.) came to him, advised that Wolfson had been a generous contributor to the Democrats.

"By mentioning that," said Morse, "you've guaranteed that we'll subpoena him."

When Morse mentioned this and other pressures to his fellow DC committee member, Sen. Pat McNamara of Michigan, Pat's Irish temper exploded. Immediately they issued a "forthwith" subpoena, the toughest subpoena the Senate can issue.

Eventually, Wolfson turned up and testified.

Meanwhile his lobbying forces started working on the White House to veto the transit-seizure bill. The pressure, Morse found, was being applied by David Charnay, shrewd, brilliant, one of the most successful public relations men in the nation's capital, an intimate friend of Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

It had taken a lot of pressure on Speaker Sam Rayburn and other congressional leaders to get the transit-seizure bill passed, yet now it was stymied in the White House. So Senator Morse phoned Commissioner Sam Spencer, Ike's appointee as "Mayor of Washington."

"I have reason to believe," warned Morse, "that pressure is being applied to the White House not to sign your bill."

"Oh no, nothing like that could happen," replied Commissioner Spencer.

Next day he agreed that Morse seemed to be right. Assistant President Sherman Adams had advised delay, told him it might be possible to settle the strike without seizure.

"I can't understand it," Commissioner Spencer told the senator from Oregon. "You're right that the White House staff is urging that the bill be vetoed. You certainly must have some inside information."

The inside information Morse had learned was that Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, friend of Charney's, was urging assistant President Sherman Adams of New Hampshire to kill the Capital Transit bill.

"I suggest that the President be reminded that this is a Republican bill," Morse told Spencer, "and that you commissioners wrote it."

Meanwhile, members of the Washington Board of Trade got into the pressure picture on the side of Capital Transit, argued at the White House that seizing a company during a labor argument created a bad precedent.

Faced with these pressure forces, the President waited 12 days from the day Congress had rushed through the bill "on request." Then he signed it—36 hours before it would have been killed by a pocket veto.

LADY EX-JUDGE
Judge Grace Stewart, appointed by Truman to the DC Municipal Court but not reappointed by Eisenhower, entered the dining car on a train to New York. Only seat available was at a table partially occupied by Fred Mullen, press relations officer of the Justice Department, and Attorney General Brownell.

Both gentlemen rose, offered Mrs. Stewart a place near the window. Mullen introduced her to Brownell. After some pleasant conversation, Brownell asked:

"Are you enjoying your work on the bench, Judge Stewart?"

"I was," replied the ex-judge "until you threw me out."

More Discipline Of Children Urged

BERKELEY, Calif. — (UP)—A University of California criminologist has come out for more discipline of children even though he admits it may breed more neurotics.

Dr. Douglas M. Kelley is especially critical of some followers of the Austrian father of psychoanalysis, Sigmund Freud, who advocate complete lack of disciplinary training.

Even though strict training at home might produce more compulsive personalities, Kelley insisted it would produce fewer juvenile delinquents and criminal psychopaths.

Complete lack of discipline, Kelley said, may perpetuate immature childhood behavior. Such immaturity consists of extreme self-centeredness, confusion of daydreams with reality, emotional volatility, and an inability to make critical evaluations.

Kelley said these patterns are normal in a young child but dangerous in adolescents and adults. The criminologist has called for a middle ground between the "old fashioned straitjacket" discipline and the extreme "permissiveness" that impedes the learning of self-control.

Americans On European Travel Spree; Small Wage Earners on Pay-Later Trips

By KENNETH O. GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Breezing to Europe to see the sights is getting to be like buying a car or TV set. For the average American it has become one of those necessary and attainable luxuries.

From the haggard looks of passport officials to the prosperous smiles on the faces of travel agents, all signs point to 1955 as the biggest overseas travel year in U. S. history. And it isn't just the wealthy who are taking off by boat and plane.

Small wage earners by the thousands are flocking across the sea to frolic in Paris, see the royalty in London, worship in Rome and canal-it in Venice. They're taking advantage of well promoted and economic tourist offers, group trips, and pay-after-you-come-back plans.

Now that the season has just passed its peak, travel experts are able to say with certainty that records will be broken for the number of housewives, bus drivers, bricklayers, college students, secretaries and clerks who are or will be in Western Europe.

"The American public is on a colossal traveling spree," says Miss Frances Knight, director of the U. S. Passport Office. She ought to know. For every minute of the working day during June—she and her undermanned staff issued or renewed on the average of 6.8 passports.

What became a gigantic headache for the new passport chief is a delight for the professional travel services who are enjoying an unprecedented amount of business. And they all confirm that, as never before, a large segment of their customers are from the lower income groups.

"Our final travel figures for this year will exceed by far anything we have experienced," says James H. Cowan, manager of the international travel department for the American Automobile Association. "We've had a 35 per cent increase up to now."

"The housewife is our No. 1 tourist. Second comes skilled labor, then clerks and secretaries. Professional persons such as doctors and lawyers are seventh or eighth on the list."

Says Stephen Halsey, Washington representative of the American Express Co., "Now a secretary who makes $65 to $70 a week can afford to make a trip to Europe by saving up enough for a small down payment. And there are a lot of families in the $4,000 to $8,000 income group who are traveling abroad. The war scare is over and people feel they can go out on the line as far as credit is concerned to travel." Slackening of cold war tensions and general prosperity are two of the most common reasons given by private and public officials here for the huge exodus to Europe, which is expected to reach one half million mark this year.

In addition, Miss Knight notes such factors as the increase in the number of vacations with pay, early retirement and pension plans and social security. "People who 20 years ago would have thought they were too old to travel," she explains, "pick up tickets and off they go."

"Americans are the most traveled people in the world," adds Edwy Reeves, executive officer of the Passport Division. "Many of them have seen the high spots in the U. S., and now they want to go further afield."

He also points out that people want to move faster than ever before due to air travel. Pan American airlines reports, for example, that they flew 14,760 persons to Europe in June—a 33 per cent increase over the same period last year. And it is estimated that during June 2,000 persons a day were flying across the Atlantic.

Where are Americans going in Europe and how much are they spending? The Commerce Department's newly created international office reports that during 1954 roughly 420,000 American tourists spent 352 million dollars in the European and Mediterranean area during 1954. This averages $839 per person, not including transportation costs from $200 to $500.

A trip abroad can be done for less, however. One of the most popular and cheap modes of travel is with a group ranging from 20 to 100 persons. The usual itinerary includes the highspots of England, Holland, Belgium, France, Switzerland, Germany and Italy.

The American Express Co. offers a four-week junket covering these countries for $1,000 including tips, hotels, boat fare, and personally conducted tours of historic sites.

During the spring and fall the AAA has a 28-day budget trip for $55. This so-called off season traveling is becoming more and more popular. But most of the AAA's customers go on the 50-day tour of Western Europe, which runs to $1,130.

Cook's travel service, which is the oldest in the world, sets up a five week European trip which costs between $1,100 and $1,200. And if you have the money, they'll also take you on an African safari.

One of the newest trends is the quick trip to Europe. Going by air, a business man and his wife can swing through England, the Netherlands and France in two weeks for roughly $850 each.

Use bottles with screw-on medicine droppers for flavoring extracts, fruit colorings, and other liquid you want to use in small quantities.

HAVING FUN—Clark Gable and his new wife, the former Kay Spreckels, are reported hitting the Hollywood night spots. That's something "The King" never did before his marriage.

THE WILLOWY WISP has a natural bent—in any direction

The WISP is a retailer who can be talked into almost anything — when it comes to national advertising support.

He's not sure where he's going because he's always being led.

He's absolutely sold on newspapers for his own advertising but lacks the foresight to urge manufacturers to use it, too.

Fortunately the WISP is a rare creature.

Most retailers know that a manufacturer's advertising helps them best in their daily newspaper — close to their own advertising.

Most retailers know that newspapers are the action medium.

That's why local advertising in newspapers stacks up to over $2,000,000,000 a year — nearly six times the amount local advertisers put into radio, more than eleven times the amount they put into television.

Smart retailers and manufacturers realize that nowhere can they advertise together so productively as in the newspaper.

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers!

This message prepared by BUREAU OF ADVERTISING, American Newspaper Publishers Association, and published in the interests of fuller understanding of newspapers by THE DAILY REGISTER.

CPL. AND MRS. ARNOLD DEAN EVANS whose wedding took place Saturday, August 13, at 6 p. m. at the First Baptist church in Carrier Mills.

Miss Mary Jane Behrick, Cpl. Arnold Dean Evans Wed

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Mary Jane Behrick, Chicago, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Behrick, Carrier Mills RFD, and Cpl. Arnold Dean Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orland Evans of Des Moines, Ia. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ernest Ammon at the Carrier Mills First Baptist church Saturday, Aug. 13, at 6 p. m.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of white nylon with a lace overskirt and white accessories and carried on a white Bible and orchid corsage.

Her only attendant was Mrs. Delores Dembowski, close friend of the bride, from Gary, Ind.

Barney Behrick, brother of the bride, served as best man to the bridegroom. Ushers were Gene Dembowski, Gary, Ind., and Gordon Williams of Harrisburg.

Appropriate wedding music was played by Mrs. Charles Johnson of Carrier Mills who presided at the organ.

Mrs. Behrick chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of blue linen. The bridegroom's parents were unable to be present.

A reception was held at the Behrick home following the wedding.

The bridegroom is with the U. S. Army stationed at Fort Sheridan. A wedding trip is planned for next month when the bridegroom will receive a furlough during which the couple will visit at the home of his parents.

They are now making their home at 1113 167th street, Hammond, Ind.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mullinix, Del Rio, Tex., and Everett Gorman, Calumet City, Ill.

Oldest Protestant institution for women in the United States is said to be Moravian College.

Crowd of 8,000 Attends Ferne Clyffe Dedication, Fox Hunters' Meeting

A crowd estimated at nearly 8,000 people witnessed the dedication of Ferne Clyffe State park, sponsored by the Greater Egypt Ass'n. The dedication was followed by the Southern Illinois Fox Hunters' association's 50th annual meeting.

Brad Durham, mayor of Goreville, and Rev. B. J. Murrie, president of Greater Egypt Ass'n, were the only two on the platform who attended the first meeting in 1905.

A message from Bob Miley, state superintendent of parks, read by Geoffrey Hughes, executive secretary of Southern Illinois Inc., pointed out the fitness of the dedication at this time and the difficulties that would have presented such a large participation in a dedicatory ceremony early in the park's history.

In the word of Rev. W. L. Cummins, Harrisburg Methodist minister, the event was a realization of the fondest dreams of the late Miss Emma Rehman whose foresight and generosity made the park possible. Even she could not have visualized the great gathering around the platform and extending up the hillside to the bluffs in front of her old home.

Many of the huge crowd had come early to enjoy the cool breeze visiting points of interest. Tents of campers and friendly dogs of the fox hunters were extended along the way. The Goreville high school served a plate lunch with the assistance of 75 students.

The dedication program began with an introductory statement by President Murrie. Miss Millicent King of Herrin led in the first verse of America the Beautiful and Rev. Claude Childress gave the invocation and presided at the later Fox Hunters' program.

Sen. Homer Butler of Marion acted as master of ceremonies.

Tribute was paid to Scorial Thompson of Harrisburg and Oscar Shafale, both of the area development commission which recommended the development of the park.

Ray Hubbs of Herrin, former superintendent of state parks, told of the early development of the park and future hopes. President Murrie briefly referred to his recent trip to Egypt and the pyramids. He told of the significance of the ancient ceremony of libation, the pouring of water that symbolizes the giving and the work to be dedicated.

William H. Farley, secretary of Greater Egypt association, held a pitcher of water from the Ohio river at the eastern end of the Trigg Memorial Ozark trail while Katherine Griffith Rawson, widow of the first secretary of Greater Egypt association, held a similar pitcher of water from the Mississippi river at the western end of the scenic road. From these pitchers the waters were poured in a single stream to mingle with the soil of Ferne Clyffe. This was to portend future development of scenic attractions similar to Ferne Clyffe.

A dedicatory prayer by Rev. Murrie and response by Wm. McLeod and southern Illinois area services director, Wm. J. Tudor, followed.

The crowd lingered far into the night enjoying a sermon by the Rev. Denzil Clark and various contests such as cow calling by the ladies and nail driving for which prizes were given.

A square dance ended the program.

Miner Killed, One Rescued in Cave-In

FARMERSVILLE, Ill. — A miner was killed and another was trapped four hours 352 feet below ground late Wednesday when the roof of an abandoned coal mine shaft collapsed.

Arthur H. Liebscher, 26, Hillsboro, was crushed to death beneath tons of rock and dirt. Earl L. Cramer, 36, Girard, escaped most of the debris and was alive when rescuers reached him four hours later. He suffered arm and back injuries.

The cave-in occurred about 3/4 of a mile from the shaft head of the Freeman Coal Corp. Crown Mine, located a half mile from Farmersville. The two men had been recovering equipment left in the shaft.

elect state officials who spoke briefly by announcing he is a candidate for re-election.

Hodge had been rumored as a possible opponent to Stratton in the 1956 gubernatorial primary. The auditor removed all doubts that he will not support Stratton by saying his accomplishments were due to Stratton's popular and legislative strength, and that he intends to work for future accomplishments in his present office.

Other state elected officials on the speaking program included Lt. Gov. John W. Chapman, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter, Treasurer Warren E. Wright, Atty. Gen. Latham Castle, Supt. of Public Instruction Vernon L. Nickell and Clerk of the Supreme Court Fae I. Searcy.

An estimated 85,000 persons attended the fair Wednesday. "Democratic Day." The Democrats held no program at the fairgrounds but had a luncheon reception in downtown Springfield.

At the luncheon, mid-state legislators proposed and unanimously approved a resolution calling for State Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vien-na) as the party's 1956 candidate for the U. S. Senate. Powell had previously ignored a similar resolution and said he is not a Senate candidate.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE DISNEY, former Harrisburg residents, observed their Golden Wedding anniversary July 24 at Harvey, Ill. The Disneys, who left here about 14 years ago, lived in Harrisburg 27 years, their children were raised here and attended HTHS. Mr. Disney was employed in the coal mines and the family was active in the McKinley Baptist church, where he was a deacon. Mr. and Mrs. Disney are the parents of nine children, all of whom were present for the Golden Wedding observance. Also present were 20 of the couple's 26 grandchildren and four of their 10 great-grandchildren. The children present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Staley and daughter of Drayton Plains, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. John Gibson of Carrier Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Chester, Pontiac, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Asbell and children and Mrs. Isaac Heiple, all of Petersburg, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. James Disney and son of Augusta, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shover and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Disney and daughter and Mrs. Tony Turano and sons, all of Harvey. The family reunion and Golden Wedding celebration was featured by a bounteous dinner at noon July 24 at Whitney park, Harvey. Centering the huge dining table was a beautifully decorated three-tiered cake symbolizing the 50 years of wedded life. It was topped by a pair of miniature golden slippers.

Sometimes It Just Doesn't Pay to Get Up

KENNEBEC, S. D. — Rol- and Arnoldy is convinced he should have spent at least one day in bed.

It was the day when he first found a sparrow's nest on the engine of his airplane.

The same day the airplane stalled at 3,500 feet. The engine caught fire as the plane neared the ground and Arnoldy made a perfect landing.

Arnoldy then went fishing. The motor boat capsized. Arnoldy had to swim to an island.

Perhaps, he should have stayed in bed the next day, too. For in returning to the lake, his car ran into a ditch.

S. Korea Severs Trade Relations With Japanese

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The Republic of Korea severed all trade relations with Japan today, plunging diplomatic relations between the two nations into deeper crisis.

There was no official announcement, but officials of four separate government offices in Seoul said a blanket ban on Japanese trade became effective today.

The word spread rapidly through Korean and foreign business circles this afternoon, but no government official would say exactly when the order was handed down or how long the ban would last.

The trade ban came only a few hours after government spokesman Hong Kee Karl issued a formal statement declaring that relations between South Korea and Japan were "reaching the breaking point."

Karl announced a ban on all travel by Koreans between the two nations.

He explained the action by saying, "The Japanese continue to seek to tie up with Communism and at the same time they refuse to withdraw their illegal claims to 85 per cent of Korean property."

Korea, long under Japanese domination, achieved its freedom at the end of World War II though it was soon to be divided into a free south and a Communist north.

The Koreans have disliked and feared the Japanese almost as much as they have the Communists and there has been a long series of incidents involving Japanese fishing boats and Korean naval vessels.

Ex-POW Claims Soviets Hold American Flier

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. officials will question a German who recently returned from a Russian prison to determine whether the Soviet Union holds an American flier shot down in Burma almost 11 years ago, it was learned today.

The officials are satisfied the German did see J. William G. Baumeister Jr., St. Paul, Minn., in a Soviet camp, the American ambassador in Moscow is expected to demand his release. Similar diplomatic efforts in the last two years have brought release of five Americans who had been held in Russian prison camps.

Interest in the case was renewed Wednesday when a returned German POW said he was almost certain a prisoner he saw in a Soviet prison camp in 1948 and 1949 was Baumeister. He said the American still was wearing his Air Force uniform then.

The flier's father, William G. Baumeister of St. Paul, said he had asked the State Department to find out if the airman still is alive.

The Air Force said Baumeister had been reported missing in action in the Asiatic theater in 1944. He was determined dead in 1946.

President Lands 17-Inch Rainbow

FRASER, Colo. (UPI) — Delighted with the success of his first trout venture, President Eisenhower hoped for bigger and better catches today in the chill waters of St. Louis Creek.

The Chief Executive landed a 17-inch two-pound rainbow on one of his first casts in the stream Wednesday. He hoped to top it today if the weather remained favorable for fishing—cool and cloudy.

The two-pounder was as big as any trout he has caught here in summers past.

Cool weather and overcast skies that occasionally drizzled aided the presidential angling Wednesday on the Byers Peak Ranch of Aksel Nielsen, the Denver financier who is his host and fishing companion for the five-day sojourn.

Mr. Eisenhower and Nielsen returned after three hours on St. Louis Creek with a total of 16 fish between them Wednesday. The legal limit is 10 a day for each fisherman.

The President has settled down in comfort to really enjoy his cooling respite in the mountains.

But he also turned out a fair amount of work Wednesday in between sessions of cooking, fishing, golf and painting.

Report Increase In New Polio Cases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Public Health Service said today that the number of new polio cases reported last week jumped 26 per cent over the previous week.

The service also noted a rapid increase in the disease's incidence in Wisconsin in addition to Massachusetts, which has been hit by an epidemic.

It said that 1,781 new cases were reported last week as compared to 1,412 in the preceding week. This total, however, was 6 per cent less than the 1,904 reported for the comparable week last year. No reports were received from Vermont and Wyoming.

The service said the 158 paralytic and 141 non-paralytic polio cases among Salk-vaccinated persons have been reported.

The number of polio cases for the year stood at 9,720 as compared to 12,695 last year; the number reported in the disease year, beginning April 1, was 8,657 compared to 11,142 in the same period last year.

President Salutes Scout Jamboree

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont. (AP) — President Eisenhower today saluted the eighth World Jamboree of Boy Scouts as a bridge of international understanding that could be built by boys, and not by governments alone.

"The moral qualities which make a scout a good citizen in his own nation are the qualities which will enable him and his fellow countrymen to live as good neighbors with people in other parts of the world," he said in a message to the 1,500 members of the American contingent attending the jamboree.

Between 12,000 and 18,000 boys from some 60 countries are expected to be in camp for the jamboree by tonight. Although the jamboree starts today, it opens officially on Saturday, and closes Aug. 28.

India Policeman Kills Eight Children After Torturing Wife

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Reports reaching here today said a 41-year-old police inspector in a remote Uttar Pradesh village killed his eight children and then himself after torturing his wife whom he allegedly suspected of infidelity.

Jamil Ahmad was reported to have tortured his wife Saturday in the presence of the children—aged 2 months to 15 years—and then shot the youngsters when he became infuriated by the oldest child's attempts to stop the torture. The wife survived, but was reported in serious condition.

schools. He had been at the local school a number of times.

Mr. Davenport said that the board sought Mr. Henson, not Mr. Henson the job. When the vacancy arose, he said, board members went to Murray to see if Mr. Henson could give any recommendations as to men who would fit into the local job, since his college post took him into so many high schools.

When the situation was discussed, Mr. Henson said that the job looked interesting to him and the board members then induced him to consider the principalship for himself.

He said then that he would accept if he could obtain his release from the college and could find housing in Harrisburg. This morning he telephoned to say that he would take the post.

Comeback Players IN THE Sport Parade

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball has come up with quite a list of "yo-yo" players—guys who were just about to the end of their string then came back this season.
There is no official designation for "comeback of the year" players but if there were the competition would be pretty brisk.
Brooklyn's "recharged battery" of Don Newcombe and Roy Campanella is sparking the Dodgers to their earliest pennant clinching in history and has to top the list in the National League. Where would the Brooks be without Big Newk's 18.3 won and lost record or without Campy's 325 bat and his 85 runs batted in? Last year a discouraged Newk, back from the Army and unable to harness his old fast ball, wound up with a .93 total and wondered if he ever would get going again. Campy, playing with a smashed and patched hand, wound up with a .207 average and declared he would quit for good if his injury didn't heal properly.
American League Candidates
The American League has three top candidates and any one would be a fine choice as top comebacker at this state of the race.
They are pitchers Tommy Byrne of the Yankees, Dick Donovan of the White Sox, and outfielder Elmer Valo of the K. C. Athletics. Just imagine where the Yankees would be in this sizzler of a race without Byrne's 11.3 record? Yet he was cast adrift in 1951 and had to kick around in the minors before he received another chance.
And what about Donovan with his 13.4 mark up to the time his appendix tired of solitary confinement and hollered to be let out? He's about ready to go again and how those White Sox can use him. With Donovan, actually, it is more than a comeback because in four previous major league trials with the Braves and Tigers he never won a game and had a composite 0.4 mark. He was a "never was" before this season.
The Athletics will match Czech-born Valo, an all-out hustler with any comeback candidate in the business. He tried as hard as ever last year but the base hits didn't drop and he wound up with a sickly .214 average. It would have been more than a pun, had he decided that discretion was the better part of Valo this season and called it quits. But he has been back in action with the hottest bat in the league, compiling a .359 average that would make him eligible for the hitting title had he played in enough games. As it is, he has 79 hits in 220 at bats and has been in 84 games.
Klaus Makes Good
There are numerous other "rebound" boys who are showing that there is life yet at a time when it looked as if they might be riding an express train to the baseball graveyard.
Billy Klaus, who had a major league average of exactly .000 before this season and who was about to be consigned again to the minors, caught on with Boston, "jelled" their infield and is now batting .340. Scrappy Clint Courtney is rapping away at a .323 pace for scrappy Chuck Dressen at Washington and the best he could show for a lifetime before the season was .323. Infielder George Kell of the White Sox, despite a chronic back ache, is batting .304 and delivering vital hits whereas he had a .276 mark for 1954. Walt Dropp, called "the key man in my infield" by Chicago Manager Marty Marion, is hitting the ball long and often at a .291 pace which is away above his lifetime mark of .273.

"Shifty" Eyes
Young flounders start life quite normally, with one eye on each side of the head. As they begin to swim and rest on one side, one eye begins to migrate until both are on the upperside of the head.
The use of false teeth was common in ancient Rome.

NEA Special Correspondent
GALVESTON, Tex. — (NEA) — George Zaharias gently opened the door to room 227, private, at Galveston's John Sealy Hospital, slid his 280 pounds through the opening he had made, then gave a slow nod of his head that meant, "Come on, let's go in."

Babe Didrikson Zaharias had just awakened from a nap that had lasted most of the early afternoon.
Zaharias stretched out his mammoth arms, gave her a great, wide grin and moved quickly to the bedside.

Nobody said anything, but the Babe puckered up and George planted a big kiss that spoke all the words that were necessary.

The Babe tried uncomfortably to move the lower part of her body and then broke the silence.
"I dreamed I was on the first tee at Tam O'Shanter," she said, yawning a little. "I got out there real good, about 250 yards."
"How do you feel, Babe?" I asked.
"Well, I'm hurtin' just a little bit right now," she admitted.

I found myself struggling for words with which to keep the conversation going—something which necessarily had to be brief.
We spoke of the Tam O'Shanter tournament and the Babe said: "Tell 'em I'll be back."
George Zaharias and I had sat for more than an hour in a small lounge a short distance down the hall from the Babe's room.
"I've seen her show great courage in golf tournaments many, many times," Zaharias had said, "but nothing to compare with the courage she showed when the doctors told her she had cancer again."
"We had hoped against hope it wouldn't come back," he went on, "but I guess both of us have been worried about it for some time."
"When the doctor told her about it, she showed no trace of emotion," she just set her jaw and asked firmly: "Well, what do we do now?"
"The doctor told her we'd have to start treatments and Babe asked how soon we could start."
"In about 15 minutes," the doctor said, and the Babe replied: "That suits me fine."

When the announcement confirmed the fears of her thousands of friends throughout the world, the general reaction was that it might be the end of the line for the famous Babe.
"We refuse to think of it that way," George Zaharias said, and you got the impression the fellow wasn't just trying to put up a brave front.
"I'll tell you for sure that the Babe hasn't given up. She thinks she'll play tournament golf again. And I think she will, too. We've got the best doctors in the country and we believe she'll whip this thing again."

Zaharias said the Babe hadn't been up to par since she won the Tampa Open in January. She finished among the leaders at Miami and St. Petersburg, but had to withdraw after one round at Sarasota. In the Babe Zaharias Open at Beaumont, Tex., the best she could do was 13th.

"She was dead tired and awfully discouraged, but she wanted to go to Carrollton, Ga., to prove to herself that she wasn't through with competitive golf," George said.

"She finished sixth and both of us were real blue and we decided to go home to Tampa. But we stopped in Atlanta and Bobby Jones gave her some real encouraging words. You know, Bobby is a semi-invalid and a few words from Bobby Jones are better than a million from anybody else."
"We got in the car and to talking golf and the first thing we knew the car was headed for Spar-tanburg, S. C., and the next tournament."

"I don't know where she got the strength to play unless it was from Bobby Jones. But she hit the ball 35 yards farther off the tee and won."

That was the last one for Babe Didrikson Zaharias. After a brief visit to her Tampa home, she came to Galveston to hear the dread news that she had cancer again.

D-X, Jukes, Win First Games In Series Play

By David Nelson
DX blanked the American league All-Stars, 7-0, and the Golish Jukes defeated the Three-I league All-Stars, 6-4, in the first of Kiwanis series games Wednesday.

Dowdy gave up only two hits, both in the first inning, as DX blanked the All-Stars, 7-0. The winners scored three runs in the first, two in the second and two in the fifth. Dowdy hurled all the way for DX, pitching shutout ball and giving up two hits and three bases on balls while striking out three.

Hagen and Henshaw split the chore for the All-Stars, giving up seven runs on four hits, two errors and eight bases on balls, while they struck out four.

For DX at bat, Holden homered, and Dowdy, Reid and J. Wathen singled once. Pavelonis and Aldridge hit safely once for the All-Stars.

The Jukes got only four hits as they defeated the All-Stars, 6-4. The winners scored four runs in the second, one in the fourth and one in the sixth. The losers tallied two in the first, one in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Furlong, on the hill for the Jukes, allowed four runs on seven hits, two errors and one walk as he struck out seven.

E. Henshaw pitched for the All-Stars, giving up six runs on four hits, four walks and one error.

For the Jukes, Furlong tripped. Beggs doubled, and Maynard and Clark hit safely once. For the All-Stars at the plate J. B. Henshaw and Feazel singled twice, Nelson doubled and Profit and Syers singled.

The Dodgers failed to show up for their scheduled game with Pankey's, so in their place an all-star team, with Anglin manager, will play.

The Ronnie's-Walker's game scheduled for Thursday has been postponed.

Steve Tell, Plebe Big Winners in State Fair Races

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Steve Tell and the sensational Plebe were the big winners on the Illinois State Fair harness racing card Wednesday, and Kimberly Kid was the top performer on today's card.

Kimberly Kid, from the Allwood Stable, will head a field of five in the exclusive Abe Lincoln Big Five trot with prize money of $4,000. But the big money events today are the Little Pat 2-year-old pace for $15,300, and the Greyhound 2-year-old trot for $16,250.

Steve Tell took the richest race Wednesday by winning the second and third heats in the $11,000 Illinois State Fair Stakes aged trot.

Steve Tell, owned by William H. Laue, Hinsdale, Ill., beat Bishop's First in the runoff third heat. Bishop's First was owned by Hejman Graham stock farm, Salem, and driven by Tom Graham.

Plebe paced home in two minutes flat in the $2,700 2-17 pace second heat. Then Plebe out-gamed the undefeated Widower's Illmo, which had won the first heat, in a 2:00 2-5 final heat.

Plebe is owned by Peggy Sanderholme and Widower's Illmo by Samuel Huttenbauer.

Other winners Wednesday included Colby's Goddess, Ethel O'Henry, and Leuc.

Obscure Players Shine As Red Sox Beat Yankees, Detroit Defeats Indians

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer
That American league pennant race is just as dizzy as ever today, folks, so how about "time out" to toast a few of baseball's obscure boys, like Delock, Babe Birrer, Jim Bunning, Ramon Montant, and Elroy Face.

They get their names up in headlines about as often as the nice, quiet fellow who runs the corner grocery but Wednesday was their day to shine and they made the most of it.

Delock, a second-line Red Sox pitcher who hadn't won a game since June 29 and who hadn't gone the route all season, went in and stopped the red-hot Yankees with a five-hit, 7-1 victory that ended a seven-game winning streak. Delock himself had been battered out by the Yankees in the early stages of that winning streak last week and with an attack that had netted 57 runs in the past five games, the odds against him looked formidable. The victory put fourth place Boston again within 3 1/2 games of the leading Yankees.

Rookies Dump Indians
Rookies Bunning and Birrer, two peach-checked Detroit youths worked together to perform a similar job on the Indians, the Tigers knocking them out of second place with a 9-5 triumph.

The Tigers staked Birrer to seven runs in the first three innings but when he began to coast and Cleveland cut the margin to 7-5, Birrer took over and pitched scoreless three-inning ball the rest of the way to gain his fourth triumph. Idle Chicago took over second place from Cleveland a game behind the Yanks.

In the National league, Montant pitched the first complete game of his major league career, retarding Brooklyn's pennant-bound Dodgers with a 5-1 Giant victory in which he gave up eight hits, also striking out eight.

It was almost the same sort of a night for Elroy Face of the Pirates, who went the distance for the second time this year and gained his third victory, a six-hit 6-4 job over the Phillies in which his mates backed him with 16 hits.

Second place Milwaukee, half-a-continent away from Brooklyn and just about that far behind in the standings, cut the margin to 14 games by beating the Cardinals 11-4 on a grand slam homer by Del Crandall and two-run blasts by Andy Pafko and Ed Mathews. It was No. 32 for Mathews.

Sauer Hits Two Homers
Hank Sauer, for whom life has gone a little sour, came off the bench for the first time in 11 games and cracked a pair of his old specialty home runs to give the Cubs a 3-2 victory over the Redlegs at Cincinnati and Bob Rush his 10th pitching victory. A two-run homer by Smoky Burgess in the first inning deprived Rush of a shutout.

The Baltimore-Washington doubleheader was rained out.
Two other obscure boys helped Delock to his triumph at Boston. Eddie Joost moved into the lineup at second and contributed a hit. Billy Goodman moved over to first for the injured Norm Zauchin and had two hits. Jack Jensen drove in three runs with a bases loaded double after Grady Hatton and Jimmy Piersall tripled to start a five-run sixth.

Carrier Mills High Begins Sept. 1; Class Schedules On Opening Day

The Carrier Mills Community high school will open Thursday, Sept. 1, at 8:45 a. m., Principal Warren G. Jennings announced today. Advance registration was held last May and students will be handed their class schedules on the opening day of school. A general assembly will be held in the gymnasium on the east bleachers at 8:45 a. m. where instruction of teachers and announcements will be made to the student body. Students will be dismissed in time to be home for lunch the first day of school.

High school buses will follow the same routes as last year and for the first day of school the Lakeview bus will leave Lakeview at 8 a. m. and the Stonefort bus will leave Stonefort at 8:30 a. m. The bus traveling south and west will leave Carrier Mills at 7:45 a. m. and students living along that route may determine the time it will be at their pick-up points. Grade school buses which convey high school students will follow the same routes and will be at the various pick-up points at the same time as last year. Students are to report to the gymnasium for opening exercises at 8:45 a. m. No students will be allowed to enter the building before 8:15 a. m.

CIO Challenges Census Figures on Non-Farm Workers

WASHINGTON UP — The CIO today challenged the Census Bureau's non-farm employment statistics. The figures showed a larger gain in employment last month than was reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

CIO Research Director Stanley Rutenburg said there must be "something wrong" with the Census Bureau's data. He asked for an explanation of "the remarkable differences" between the changes in non-farm employment as reported by the two government agencies.

The Census Bureau reported an increase of 900,000 in non-farm employment between June and July while the BLS reported no change.

The Census Bureau said at the time that the difference was due primarily to the fact that its survey includes as employees persons who have jobs but are on vacation, ill or otherwise absent. The BLS includes these as employed only if they are getting paid while away from their jobs.

New Record for Non-Fatalities In Coal Mines

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — The longest consecutive period in which no coal miner lost his life in Illinois mines was chalked up during the 61 days from June 4 to August 3, inclusive, this year, Ben H. Schull, director of the state Department of Mines and Minerals, reported today.

A fatality free month of July helped set up the new record, Schull said. This, combined with no fatalities in June after the 3rd and none during the first three days of August, established the 61-day record-breaking period.

August of last year was the only other full month since 1882 in which no fatal accident occurred in Illinois mines.

Schull credited the accident prevention training program, which he has stimulated during the past two years, with being the biggest single factor in helping to set the new fatality free record. Each month a new group of miners undertakes the training course, which averages about 16 hours. During July, 179 miners took the course.

While we realize that for some of the men in the coal mining industry it represents a sacrifice of time to enroll in our accident prevention training program, the record which has just been established shows full well that it is a worthwhile sacrifice on their part. The time they have spent in these classes may have saved their own lives. With no fatalities during July the total fatality accidents for the first seven months of this year remains at 11, as compared with 18 during the same period last year.

Tonnage output per fatality so far this year is 2,259,909, as against 1,210,636 in the corresponding period a year ago.

There were 61 non-fatal accidents causing lost time of at least one day during July, raising the total for the year to 561, a decline of 49 from the first seven months last year.

Two Bathrooms Near Standard For U. S. Homes

CHICAGO UP — Two bathrooms in every home is becoming the standard for middle class America, a study shows.

The survey was made by Commercial Discount Corp., which has an interest in bathroom data because it provides financing for plumbing supply companies.

Sidney Feuchtwanger, Commercial Discount president, said the two-bathroom concept jibes with the trend toward two cars and two TV sets per family.

"More parents are deciding they want a private bath," he said.

The survey is based on reports from 26 plumbing equipment manufacturers in Massachusetts, New York, Maryland, Ohio and Illinois.

More Frills Now
Their business this year is running about 30 per cent above 1954, when their sales totaled 101 million dollars.

From 1948 to 1953, Feuchtwanger said, new houses had few frills. Most postwar housing went to shelter young married couples who had to scrimp on the non-essentials.

Houses built in those years were smaller and far less plush than those built in pre-World War II years.

For example, in 1940, 20 per cent of all new houses had two or more baths. But in 1950 only 8 per cent had more than one bath.

But in 1954, the plumbing supply people reported, the trend toward two baths resumed in earnest.

This fact, if it needs proof, can be established from the reports of large, speculative builders, who comprise only 10 per cent of the trade but who last year put up 78 per cent of the nation's new homes.

More Floor Space
Reports from these mass-volume builders indicate that 22 per cent of the new houses going up have at least 1 1/2 baths, and 12 per cent have 2 baths.

The trend goes hand-in-hand with the rising popularity of the split-level house, which provides more floor space without the prerequisite of a large lot.

The average 1950 house had about 900 square feet of floor space, the figures show. But this year's average will run closer to 1,100 square feet.

The average house is still a ranch type without basement, despite the split-level trend, but it has 3 bedrooms, 1 1/2 to 2 baths, a combination living-dining room and a large kitchen.

If the house is a bit above average, it may have a den or TV room.

"The study shows," Feuchtwanger said, "that the trend is toward more living space and greater luxury."

163 Highway Deaths in July

SPRINGFIELD UP — Traffic fatalities on Illinois highways totaled 163 during July, an increase of 3 deaths over the same month last year, the State Department of Public Works and Buildings reported today.

The July deaths brought the fatality toll for the first seven months of 1955 to 1,113 persons, compared with 1,103 deaths for the same period last year.

The Constitution's Twentieth Amendment states that the Congress of the United States shall assemble at least once in every year.

OUT OUR WAY

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Uncovering Hollywood: "Will Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis Reconcile?" has replaced "Will Eddie Fisher Marry Debbie Reynolds?" as a Hollywood summer replacement soap opera.

After making like Sgt. Friday behind the scenes on the well publicized Martin & Lewis feud, I'm convinced Martin & Lewis don't even know the future answer.

There's a "Remote Possibility" label on a peace pipe session despite high level talks in the opposite direction — whether their careers could continue separately.

Jerry has been flitting between Paramount, NBC and his lawyer's office since his return from Florida. Meanwhile, an apparently unconcerned Dean is playing golf and whistling his hit parade-bound tune from their latest movie, "You're Never Too Young."

It's ironically titled: "Love Is All That Matters."

But for what it matters, Dean didn't invite Jerry to his big party for 300 guests Saturday night.

EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD Margaret O'Brien's first grownup, romantic role in RKO's "Glory" is a movie milestone for another reason. It's the first time her mother hasn't occupied a behind-the-camera chair. No sign of mama at the studio at all.

If Howard Hughes' recent sale of RKO makes the studio's huge library of films available to television, there will be a big question mark about home-screen showings of the famous Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers musicals.

The original contracts with Astaire and Ginger, even back in the '30s, barred exhibition of the films "in any other medium." The stars could wind up with big chunks of dough to permit TV showings of the dance films.

COLUMBIA CUTIE Kathy Grant hints she'll become Mrs. Bing Crosby with The Crooner crooning "No, No." But at least their date for the last March Oscar affair wasn't their first. The dates between the two date back to 1952 when Kathy was under contract to Paramount.

Not in the Script: "There's nothing that helps a woman's appearance as much," says Dorothy Shay, "as the appearance of a man."

Red Skelton is a new stockholder in the Coca Lodge Palms on the Hawaiian island of Kauai. A rested, redder Red, he's due back in Hollywood this week after a month on Waikiki. Business Manager Bo Roos preceded him home by a week after setting up the Coca Palms investment.

IT READS "LONESOME GEORGE" on the bicycle George Gobel pedals around the Paramount lot, but between his first movie and his expanding outside business interests, the little guy has become a mob scene.

Gobel's "This Is the Show" now adds up to a new motel chain, his own music publishing company and a line of greeting cards. He's surrounded by tall beautiful dolls in the remake of "The Lady Eve" and by tall business associates between scenes.

George's first film role smartly avoids similarity to his TV humor with not a single Gobelism in the script. Paramount's counting on a long-range film future for him rather than a one-shot, grab-the-money bust.

The comedian about movies: "You just look around and there they are."

Ear witness: It could be more

Who Rides With Wyatt

by Will Henry

THE STORY: Sheriff Charles Shibley of Pima County, Ariz., wants Wyatt Earp to collect taxes for him in Tombstone. Wyatt, a man, doesn't like the idea of taking a "boy's job," till he hears that not a nickel of taxes has ever been collected in the toughest town that ever got filled up with gun-toting bad men. "Pin on the badge," says Wyatt. Tombstone's got a tax collector.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 19, Wyatt Earp took the stage out of Benson, for Tombstone.

If he had taken the one on the 18th, or the 20th, or any one that week saving that one on the 19th, chances are good that a fair part of this story would have tailed out some different, which is to say, considerable quieter.

They got into Benson at noon, Tuesday, but couldn't ride on because Big Red had picked up a stone bruise in his left front frog and was going lame on it. Wyatt knew the horse would never last into Tombstone, packing his 210 pounds, so he hunted up the stage office, figuring Big Red and Johnny's road scrub could trot down behind the coach, tied to the boot. That way, not carrying anything but their saddles, both horses could make it on down to Tombstone.

What he didn't find out until he checked the Wells Fargo freight dock just ahead of stage time the following a. m., was that the Wednesday run took the Wells Fargo box down to the diggings each week, with the Contention mine payroll in it.

The little rawhide trunk that the regular messenger was boosting up to the driver as Wyatt sauntered up to the Company dock, was busting its straps with $15,000 in cash money.

Of course, Wyatt hadn't come down to the express office fretting about any cash boxes on mine outfit payrolls. It was just that he'd worked some for Wells Fargo in his time and was only wondering if by chance he knew the agent there in Benson.

It turned out that not only did he know the agent, the agent for sure knew him.

"Well, if it ain't..." broke in Wyatt, quiet-like and giving him the nod. "You understand?" Then, grinning, "How you been, Bill?"

Taking his cue, Bill Gray dropped his voice and moved away from the loading platform.

"Wyatt, I wouldn't horse you, you know that. I bin with the Company 20 years now. But I never seen a thieves road to beat the one between here and the mines. We've hit the insurance companies for $40,000 in losses just this year a'ready. And we got 10 months to go! Man alive, you wouldn't be looking for a shotgun ride, would you, old salt?"

"Not much, Bill. I've had my day up on top. From now on I ride inside."

"You got a free pass so long as I'm running this station. Say, what you doing down in this forsaken desert anyway? Running out a Jayhawk murder warrant?"

Wyatt shook his head. "Nope, I'm done with Kansas, Bill. Doctor said I needed a climate with less lead in the air."

"You picked it," said his companion, forcing the laugh. "Even the bullets are cast out of pure silver down here! Say Wyatt, you sure you wouldn't ride shotgun for me just this once? For old time's sake? If they hoist one more payroll out of my station the company will jerk me for good. I can't pay you none, but..."

"I'll set your box, Bill," said Wyatt softly. "I'm not so old that I can't remember who gave me my first shotgun job back in Kansas."

While all the passengers on that stage took the same look at him, each one of them saw him different.

To sharp-eyed J. P. Clum, renowned first captor of Geronimo, present mayor of Tombstone and editor of the daily Epitaph, he looked like another undesirable citizen of the gun-toting persuasion.

To heavy-set, Pima County political power, Johnny Behan, presently bound for Tombstone on a mission fatefully tied up with Wyatt's own, he had the look of just the sort of professional gun Mr. Behan could use.

To Lilith Bellot, the faded "Tombstone Lily," the second lead star of the Bird Cage Theatre's stage show, he looked most nearly like what he was: a stark, still-eyed, compelling lonely figure of a man; fierce and kind and gentle and terrible, all in the same eye-ful.

But in the end, the one that couldn't get her eyes off of him was the tall girl in the quality, store-bought clothes.

What this girl saw was better than a 200-pound man, six-feet one-inch tall, big all over: size 12 boots, broad of back, thick-armed, with hands big enough to fold around a shotgun like it was a pistol.

Wyatt locked eyes with her and stiffened up like somebody had slapped him on the haunch with a hot iron.

She was a right tall girl, five-six anyways, and black-haired as a Kiowa squaw. She was full-lipped, with an oval face, creamy skin and cheeks rich-flushed with natural color.

This was a real woman! That's the way that Wyatt Earp and Johnny Ringo eyed Lilly Bellot and held the door for Evvie Cushman. And that all thunder-ation started rolling down onto old Ed Schieffelin's silver strike at Goose Flats that long gone February morning.

It was rolling at a six horse, stage-line gallop!

4-H Club News

The Pleasant Valley Go-Getters 4-H club met at the home of David Lewis Friday, August 12.

A talk was given by Eddie Steinsultz about his project.

Games were played and refreshments served to the following members: Christine and Tommy Tuttle, Frieda and Joanne Winters, Eddie Steinsultz and Roger Rice.

The next meeting will be at the Mt. Moriah church September 16. All members are asked to bring a guest.

Air-Cooling Causes National Hot Foot

NEW YORK — — — The cool comfort of air-conditioning is giving us all a hot foot.

The Leather Industries of America, a trade organization, says that feet like the rest of the body feel wonderful in an air-conditioned room. But the effect on feet when you go back into the heat is more drastic than on most other parts of the body.

Feet normally swell during hot weather. The leather group says the sudden swelling caused by rapid temperature change may cause painful discomfort if footwear isn't properly fitted.

Many persons find that burying their pride and buying a pair of shoes half a size larger pays off in comfort.
